Open to all young people living in Connecticut aged 5-14 who have a loved one living with ALS.

Could your child use a mentor?

Finding a mentor for your child is an easy way to support their healthy development and success in life, while navigating the many challenges presented by ALS.

How does it work?

Mentees are matched with professionally screened, trained, and supported mentors and participate in one-to-one activities for a few hours a couple times per month that allow them to develop a relationship that helps youth better manage the everyday challenges that are part of growing up.

Who are the mentors?

Our mentors screened, trained, and supported community-members who are 21 years of age and older who want to make a difference in the life of a child from a family living with ALS.

How do I know my child is eligible?

All Connecticut kids, age 5-14, who have a loved one living with ALS are eligible to apply. To note, program capacity is limited.
